Official Government Study Group Decrees:

"WAR AN ECONOMIC NECESSITY"

United Nations Came Into Existence to Insure Perpetual War as a Means

The Planners' Need For The Waging of Perpetual War

From DON BELL REPORTS

The unwillingness of (The Special Study Group) to publicize their findings (is) really understandable. . . . They concluded (that) lasting peace. . . . even if it could be achieved, it would certainly not be in the best interests of a stable society to achieve it.

—LEONARD C. LEWIN in his introduction to "REPORT FROM IRON MOUNTAIN. . . ."

INTRODUCTORY —

A letter from a correspondent whom we shall not identify (certain phrases have been altered or omitted to make identification impossible, to protect writer's anonymity):

Dear Mr. Bell:

I feel I must call your attention to a recent publication the contents of which are astounding. It is called "Report From Iron Mountain on the Possibility and Desirability of Peace." . . . which makes the Protocols of Zion seem like boy scout stuff.

In short it is a report prepared by an elite, but anonymous, study group of the Establishment, 15 braintrusters in all, who were commissioned in August 1963 by an unnamed government agency (or inter-agency) probably high in status, to engage in a study of the problems the U.S. would face in the event permanent peace were achieved. They rendered their report in 1966, and all but one of the 15 voluntarily decided that secrecy as to its contents was mandatory. The one exception thought that the people had a right to know what was being done in their behalf, and its publication in 1967 was the result. It was reviewed favorably by the Washington Post and I have read that the reviewer was really John K. Galbraith using a pseudonym. He thought that the public was not ready for the ideas expressed in the report, which could be the understatement of the century. . . .

. . . In this document you will find a distillation of Illuminism, moral neutralism (or rather amorism), scientism and adherence to the belief that man is God The group in rendering its report to its convening authority in the government, urged that the circulation of the report "be closely restricted to those whose responsibilities require that they be appraised of its contents."

(end of quotations from letter)

We secured the Report, as published by The Dial Press, 109 pages with notes, $5; we read it, and approve of our correspondent's appraisal of the Report.

Here is the background, which reads like a cloak and dagger story.

Some government agency; State Department, Defense Department, National Security

Council, or possibly all three; wanted a study made to determine, accurately and realistically, the nature of the problems that would confront the United States if and when a condition of "permanent peace" should arrive, and to draft a program for dealing with this contingency.

The 15 men who were chosen to make this study are not identified, but are given the "code names" of:

ARTHUS ABLE, an historian, political theorist, who has served in government and who is the Group's Washington contact. He served as chairman at most of the Group's secret meetings.

BERNARD BAKER, professor of international law and a consultant on government operations.

CHARLES COX, economist, social critic, and biographer.

JOHN DOE, social science professor at a large Midwestern University, who was responsible for making the Group's Report public. It should be understood that "John Doe" is in full agreement with the Group's findings, it was an unanimous report; his only difference with the other 14 had to do with his insistence that the Report should be "made available to the public."

EDWARD ELLIS, sociologist, often involved in public affairs.

FRANK FOP, cultural anthropologist.

GEORGE GREEN, psychologist, educator, and developer of personnel testing systems.

HAROLD HILL, psychiatrist who has conducted extensive studies of the relationship between individual and group behavior.

JOHN JONES, scholar and literary critic.

MARTIN MILLER, internationally known physical chemist.

PAUL PETERS, biochemist.

RICHARD ROE, mathematician.

SAMUEL SMITH, astronomer, physicist, and communications theorist.

THOMAS TAYLOR, systems analyst and war planner.

WILLIAM WHITE, industrialist who has undertaken many special government assignments.

This Group of braintrusters was selected in the summer of 1963. It called itself the Iron Mountain Boys, because the first and last meetings of the Group were held at Iron Mountain, New York, near the site of the Hudson Institute. Other meetings were held "on the average of once a month. . . . We met all over the country, always at a different place. . . . sometimes at hotels, sometimes at universities. Twice we met at summer camps, and once at a private estate in Virginia. We used a business place in Pittsburgh, and another in Poughkeepsie . . . we never met in Washington, or on government property. . . . We were paid a very modest per diem. . . we were told not to report it on our tax returns. I don't know what the study cost." So said John Doe to Leonard Lewin in a tape recorded interview.

The Group's last meeting was held in March, 1966, approximately two and one-half years after the first meeting; during which time regular monthly meetings were held, most of them "week-end meetings." The Group was "never sworn to secrecy," but nevertheless "operated as if it had been."

Such study groups are not unusual. They became quite popular in the Kennedy Administration. McNamara, Rusk, Bundy, all were impatient to complete the "new order," and they encouraged and financed "think tanks" such as RAND, Hudson, Institute for Defense Analysis, Committee on the Economic Impact of Defense and Disarmament (the Ackley Committee), READ (Research Program on Economic Adjustments to Disarmament), etc. Well known are the Gaither Report, the Reuther Report, the Phoenix Report, and others.

The reasoning behind such reports is simple: If man has the power to plan his future, then Planners must be given the opportunity to plan. Then, the Elite group, acting as God, will put these plans into operation, using the Sword of Government to make them effective, if the people will not be persuaded to accept voluntarily and adopt cooperatively these man-decreed "changes in a changing society."

But the Iron Mountain Study Group was different in that it sought what it called "total objectivity" in its recommendations. By this, it seems to mean total disregard for any moral considerations, either on the part of the Planners or of the people for whom they plan. Religious considerations are ignored totally (or so the Iron Mountain Boys would have themselves believe). People are treated, not as human beings, but as pawns to be moved, sacrificed, taken out of the game of life at the whim of The Players.

The Iron Mountain Boys refer to the non-military functions of war as being of far greater importance than mere national defense or extension of empire. More important is the economic necessity for war:

"War has provided both ancient and modern societies with a dependable system for stabilization and controlling national economies. No alternate method of control has yet been tested in a complex modern economy that has shown itself remotely comparable in scope or effectiveness."

TO INTERPOLATE: UNDER THE "NEW ECONOMY," WAR IS AN ECONOMIC NECESSITY; WAR MUST BE WAGED, LITERALLY, TO PREVENT DEPRESSIONS AND OTHER ECONOMIC MALADJUSTMENTS.

Cited in support of this thesis are:

KENNETH E. BOULDING: The war industry accounts for approximately a tenth of the output of the world's total economy. No amount of peace-time "pyramid building," moon-visiting, poverty warring, or other kinds of spending can compensate for this necessary "one-tenth" now produced by the war industry. Like the oil industry and the car industry, the war industry must be kept healthy; otherwise a healthy economy is impossible.

ARTHUR I. WASKOW: Military expenditure is economic "waste," but some kinds of waste have a social utility. The wastefulness of war production is exercised entirely outside the framework of the economy of supply and demand. Thus, it is subject to complete and arbitrary central control. The war industry is the balance-wheel which can keep all other industries "in line" and under control of a central authority (the "guns and butter" syndrome).

DAVID T. BAZELON: "Why is war so wonderful? Because it creates artificial demand. . . . the only kind of artificial demand, moreover, that does not raise any political issues: war, and only war, solves the problem of inventory."

U.S. ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT AGENCY: "It is generally agreed that the greatly expanded public sector resulting from heavy defense expenditures, has provided additional protection against depression, since this sector is not responsive to contraction in the private sector and has provided a sort of buffer or balance wheel in the economy."

FRANK PACE (former Secretary of the Army): "If there is, as I suspect there is, a direct relation between the stimulus of large defense spending and a substantially increased rate of growth of gross national product, it quite simply follows that defense spending per se might be countenanced on economic grounds alone as a stimulator of the national metabolism."

CONCLUSION: "Although we do not imply that a substitute for war in the economy cannot be devised, no combination of techniques for controlling employment, production, and consumption has yet been tested that can remotely compare to it in effectiveness. It is, and has been, the essential economic stabilizer in modern societies."

CONCLUSION RESTATED: In a controlled economy, war is the balance wheel which keeps the economy under control.

If the above be true — and the Iron Mountain Boys insist that it is true — then there is

OUTRAGED MILITARY DECRY NO-WIN WARS

LT. GEN. GEORGE E. STRATEMEYER

"Yes, I most assuredly do believe that there is hope of saving America! But first, we must put God and Jesus Christ back into our thinking." "You get in war to win it. You do not get in war to stand still and lose it. And we were required to lose it. We were not permitted to win." (Korea).

GENERAL DOUGLAS A. MacARTHUR

"It is for future events to ascertain whether they — the American people — still retain the ultimate authority over government as intended by the Constitution . . ."

"Such a limitation upon the utilization of available military force to repel an enemy attack has no precedent, either in our history or so far as I know, in the history of the world." (Korea)

GENERAL GEORGE S. PATTON, JR.

"I wonder how the dead will speak today when they know that for the first time in centuries we have opened Central and Western Europe to the forces of Genghis Khan; I wonder how they feel now that they know there will be no peace in our times and that Americans, some not yet born, will have to fight the Russians tomorrow, or 10, 15, or 20 years from tomorrow." (WWII).

no longer any question as to why a war in Vietnam goes on and on, when it could be ended in weeks: war is necessary to maintain the economy. And future wars will be necessary to stabilize the economy in future years!

Now a government cannot bluntly declare to the people of a nation: "We are about to have a depression, therefore we must go to war against somebody to prevent this depression." Against such a declaration, the people would rebel, and change their government.

Therefore, the Planners must bring about other, more acceptable reasons for waging a war; reasons that are altruistic, emotional, humanitarian, defensible and defendable. Hence, a sinking of the Maine, a sinking of the Lusitania, an attack on Pearl Harbor, an invasion of South Korea, a Gulf of Tonkin incident —

Remember the Atlantic Charter with its accompanying "Four Freedoms" enunciation? Remember how these, plus a planned and precipitated Pearl Harbor attack, caused a whole nation to believe that its entry into a war in Europe was just, holy, humanitarian? The Planners decreed war because it was the only way to whip a world-wide depression; we, the people, fought the war for entirely different reasons, reasons that were stated in this Atlantic Charter.

Some weeks ago, there came to our hand, an article which is most pertinent at this time, and to the subject at hand. We quote.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC CHARTER MYSTERY

In August 1941, Roosevelt and Churchill met off Newfoundland in Placentia Bay, and produced the "Atlantic Charter" which was supposed to guarantee all kind of freedoms to mankind, and restore the territorial integrity and freedom of all the occupied nations.

A beautifully framed and illuminated Atlantic Charter was hung in the National Museum in Washington, and thousands of visitors viewed it. The Office of War Information (OWI) printed up 240,000 copies of it.

On Jan. 1, 1942, 26 nations came together and signed a declaration in Washington supporting the principles of the Atlantic Charter, and formed the "United Nations."

When the details of the Teheran Conference leaked out, and it became known that the occupied nations, who had been guaranteed the right of self-government after victory, had been betrayed, Roosevelt was asked about the Atlantic Charter he and Churchill had signed, by reporters at a press conference on December 20, 1944. His reply literally bowled over the correspondents. There was not, and never had been an Atlantic Charter signed by him and Churchill, he replied. Then where is the Charter now, he was asked. He replied, "There wasn't any copy of the Atlantic Charter so far as I know." It was just a press release. It was scribbled on a piece of paper by him and Churchill, Sumner Welles and Sir Alexander Cadogan, and handed to the radio operators on the ships to put on the air as a news release.

John O'Donnell of the New York Daily News asked the curator of the museum where he had obtained the Charter. He was told that it came from the OWI, who had "loaned" the precious document to the National Museum. O'Donnell inquired at the OWI, and found that they had gotten it up, and affixed the names of Roosevelt and Churchill. By the time O'Donnell got back to the museum with this information, the great Charter had disappeared! An attendant told him it had been ordered off the wall just 20 minutes before!

We have attempted to locate an original copy of the Atlantic Charter, and so far our efforts have been rewarded with a signal lack of success. After receiving one or two arrogant and insulting letters from the Library of Congress they finally admitted that there was no such document, and confirmed the story above of Roosevelt's press conference. It appears that there is a hand-written or taped copy at the Roosevelt Memorial Library in Hyde Park, N.Y. of the press release signed only by Roosevelt, with Churchill's name in FDR's handwriting. Churchill's war memoirs, Vol. III, THE GRAND ALLIANCE, shows a photostatic copy of a typed draft, with English-style spelling, with inked-in corrections again unsigned. The State Paper Room of the British Museum in London also appears to be unable to produce an original copy of the Charter. However, they provided photostatic copies of a 12-page pamphlet printed by Whitcombe and Tomber, Ltd., giving the text of the Charter, and a preface and postscript. Signatures purporting to be those of Roosevelt and Churchill appear in the pamphlet, but they obviously are not taken from the original Charter. The Seal of the British Museum appears on the pamphlet. The preface of this pamphlet says, "On January 1, 1942, the United Nations came into being."

The Atlantic Charter meeting was obviously just a cover-up story to hide the real reason for their meeting, which was to plan how to bring America into World War II. The $64,000 question we would like the answer to is: "If the United Nations came into being on January 1, 1942, based on the principles of a so-called Atlantic Charter which never existed, how in tarnation can the U.N. legally exist?"

More importantly: If the Iron Mountain Boys are right in their conclusions; then the UN did not come into existence to "save succeeding generations from the scourge of war;" rather, it came into existence to insure perpetual war as a means to control "employment, production, and consumption" so that war may act as a "balance wheel to stabilize the economy."

The above is the first of a series of excellent articles by Don Bell entitled "The Planners' Need for Waging of Perpetual War." Send a dollar to Marah, Inc., P.O. Box 2223, Palm Beach Fla., for the rest of the series and sample issues of Don Bell Reports.

"THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS"

Our American literary trades have languished so long in the doldrums that we are almost entirely dependent upon foreign authors for really good books. There is nothing wrong with the average American writer, publisher, or editor which could not be cured with a horsewhip or a branding iron, but the chief industry of the American LITERATI is charlatantry. This derives from dubious financial control of American publishing. Our books are all pseudo-controversy, organized lying, and in general an effort to "channelize" opinion rather than to tell the real truth about anything.

For the American conservative fed up with pap, A. K. Chesterton's book THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS is a must. Lieut. General P. A. del Valle says in his introduction to the work, "With typical English self-control and objectivity, Chesterton traces the conspiracy through nearly six decades up to the present day. Historic events of world-shaking importance are related courageously and truthfully."

COURAGEOUSLY AND TRUTHFULLY: These are the key words one wants to use to describe this book. I am not enamoured of everyone who tries to palm himself off on me as an Anti-Communist. Too often, these issues are discussed with cowardice and evasion. Chesterton knocks many cherished American myths about Communism into a cocked hat. Many conservatives still associate Communism with "Russia" or with "The Working Class." Chesterton says bluntly, "The ambivalence of post-war American policy, created by the conflicting objectives of 'containing Communism' to satisfy the American Congress and American opinion, and at the same time to help promote it, in obedience to the great financial interests which had played so large a part in establishing and maintaining the Soviet Union, was only a superficial part of Roosevelt's war-time policy. As we now know, his golden rule throughout that time was to deny the Communists nothing, and in every conflict of view between Russia and the Western allies, to take the Russian side." Chesterton gives short shrift to the idea that the Chinese and Russian revolutions represented any monolithic onward march of a working-class movement. He says bluntly, "Moscow and Peking are merely branch offices; the real headquarters of the conspiracy are in New York." Communist revolutions have occurred where Wall Street wished them to occur, and not anywhere else.

We should not be surprised at this. Oswald Spengler said back in 1919, "Proletarian" movements always do the work of the big money, and that without the idealist in their ranks ever being in the least aware of the fact. Henry Ford said the same thing in different words. Intelligent people for many years have told you, and told you, and told you, that the whole Marxist movement is a fraud, that it is a mask for the big money. Yet I still go to Anti-Communist meetings and hear some braying jackass making a speech in which he depicts "Marxism" as an attack upon "The free-enterprise system." Such a braying jackass ought to be caught, and locked up in a cell with a copy of THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS, and kept there until he has memorized the book, and until the ideas contained therein have filtered through his thick head.

The knowledge contained in this book is of tremendous value especially to the young college man. It will help him to understand the phoney jungle in which he will have to make his career. It will save him from wasting time on phoney political movements and the like. It will also help the busy average citizen to spot phoney "Conservative" movements whose only purpose is to channelize his political energy and dissipate same harmlessly. There were over 27,000,000 people who voted for Goldwater in 1964; these people are a force in American Life. The Liberal Establishment finds it necessary to "channelize" the political energies of the Conservatives, and to dissipate these energies in harmless activities. Phoney "Conservative" movements sprout on every hand. The intellectual racketeers of New York work day and

Invisible Government Planners Promote No-Win Wars

"My view is that America is not fighting to win a war. We are fighting to give application to an old Greek proverb which is that the purpose of war is not to annihilate an enemy but to get him to mend his ways." — Arthur J. Goldberg, Ambassador Plenipotentiary to U.N.

"It is the legitimate American national objective to see removed from all nations, night to "Channelize" every dissident element in our population, and thus to maintain their iron control over us.

The best way to escape this kind of "channelization" is to get yourself some high-class foreign books. There are no good American books of this kind. Some of us have tried for years to publish books of this kind in America. You cannot do it. Jewish control over book publication is too tight. They enjoy an absolute power of censorship through their control of book publication and book distribution. Knowing American publishing as I do, I have long since banned the product of New York publishing from my library shelves. Why should I pay good money to have myself indoctrinated with ideas which work against me?

THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS is a real eye-opener for the American Conservative, long hoodwinked by the literary frauds of New York. As General del Valle says in his introduction to the work, "The fluent pen of Mr. Chesterton, with a clear readability that adds lustre to a name already great in English letters, brings the reader face to face with the fact that a conspiracy to rule the world does exist, and that it is rapidly approaching its goal."

The Conspiracy, I predict, will never reach its goal. Instead, it will end in a great disaster. It will promise peace but will end in War. Today the Soviet Union is arming itself to the teeth, while the U.S.A. is, in effect, disarming. I shall leave you to draw your own conclusion as to what this portends for our future. Russia is not building 100-megaton bombs for the purpose of playing a game of tiddly-winks with them. There are plenty of Anti-Communists in Russia today, but, oddly enough, the Anti-Communists in Russia are also bitterly Anti-American. The typical American conservative is likely to think that an "Anti-Communist" is likely always to be pro-American, but this is not so. The typical Russian Anti-Communist today is a person of high rank. Typically, he is a Marshal of the Red Army. He knows that Leon Trotsky came from New York, backed by the international banking combine, and that the October Revolution was a guilty and secretive effort by Wall Street to grab control of Russia. He HATES both America and Communism with a cold, murderous hatred. He regards New York, quite correctly, as the great central cesspool from which these evils were fed into the Russian bloodstream. He yearns madly to blow New York over the moon with 100-megaton bombs. There are other forces in Russia, the Jewish forces, whose official mouthpiece is the magazine NOVY MIR. NOVY MIR sounds more like the NEW YORK TIMES every day. In fact, NOVY MIR has underground connections with the intellectual cesspools of New York. The same intellectual sewerage seeps back and forth between them.

Thus the battle is joined. New York fights with money and intellect, seeks to dominate the whole world by sheer intellectual power and by clever intellectual fraud. The Marshals of the Red Army hate the money masters and their Marxist running dogs with a cold, murderous hatred, and yearn to wipe them out in a colossal act of violence. The world will come to a final clash between the Money Men and the Military men. It is a sinister fact that American policy today is being committed to the idea of a victory of Money and Intellect over violence, over military power. YOUR LIFE AND MINE ARE BEING STAGED ON THE CONCEPT OF AN IDEOLOGICAL VICTORY OVER 100 MEGATON BOMBS. The clash between the Money men and the Military men will be the immediate cause of World War III.

including the United States, the right to use substantial military force to pursue their own interests. Since this residual right is the right of national sovereignty and the basis for the existence of an international arena of power, it is, therefore, an American interest to see an end of nationhood as it has been historically defined." —Walter W. Rostow, Special assistant to President on national security affairs.

The Money Men have had their day. They are always howling that the world will "Go Red" if they are overthrown, yet they themselves were the creators and are still the principal financial backers of Marxism around the world. The Money Men are trying to stop the clock of history, to keep themselves in power forever. Oswald Spengler said, "Men are tired to disgust of money-economy. They hope for salvation from somewhere or other, for some real thing of honor and chivalry, of inward nobility, of usefulness and duty." We are tired of having the Wall Street gasbag howl that the world will "Go Red" unless we bow down to him, while at the same time he is busy filling the coffers of Communist Parties around the world. I once investigated the affairs of forty Marxist papers in Europe. I did not bother with any such question as, "What did the paper say?" I would never be remotely interested in anything any gasbag Marxist writer might ever say, and certainly would never stoop to any argument with him. I went straight for the financial records. I wanted an answer to this question: "WHO PAID THE PRINTING BILLS? WHO PAID TO HAVE THESE THINGS PUBLISHED?" I found in every case that these papers had been subsidized for forty years by bankers and industrialists, who really ran the Marxist parties of Europe. For many years the DAILY WORKER in New York drew its financial sustenance from Wall Street.

The so-called "Anti-Communist" who sings the tunes of the big money is a phoney. He is merely trying to "channelize" you, to engage you in pseudo-controversy. He will never, never, never speak the real truth. If you want to test these professional Anti-Communists for their genuineness, try this test on them: "WILL HE ADMIT THAT WALL STREET PROVIDES THE PRINCIPAL BACKING FOR COMMUNISM?" If he does not know this, he is too ignorant to play any useful public role as an intellectual leader; if he knows it and lies about it, he is morally undependable. Accept no man as a genuine Anti-Communist who will not face the real facts.

Reading THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS is a good way for the busy average citizen to get a perspective in depth on the real facts. This is not shallow humbug. This book represents the character, integrity, and intelligence of a competent intellectual, a real man, a brave man. This is a book you cannot afford to be without.

1968 - BEGINNING OF A NEW CHRISTIAN ERA FOR THE U.S.A.?

By A. Christian

The most incisive, clear-thinking writing on the position of America today is appearing in COMMON SENSE and the lead article in a recent issue entitled "1968 — End of the Road for U.S.A.?" is no exception. That article points out that the crisis of Christianity is profound and predicts that a new world pagan empire is emerging based on naked physical force.

The article correctly points out that the political and financial control of the United State by the Khazar or Asiatic Jewish influence, particularly since 1932 when Franklin Delano Roosevelt agreed to the official recognition of Soviet Russia, has brought the United States in a series of stages closer and closer to disaster.

But that disaster is not going to occur, because out of all the floundering around which America is experiencing today, a new, intense Christian fervor based on a sharp focusing of the Sermon on the Mount guidelines to be clean of heart and merciful, will push the so-called "scientific materialism" of today's college level into the background, and will repudiate all of the phoney "brotherhood" between the forces of Christ and the anti-Christ which have bewildered those living through it, stupified and drugged by pagan control of all the mass media and of those in political life.

A blazing Christian fervor now almost under cover but nevertheless powerful is about to break forth and force Earl Warren and his anti-God Supreme Court out of power.

This same Christian fervor is about to demand a cleanup of pornography, TV, radio, and all the mass publications which have been man-handled and degraded by the Khazar influence run wild.

"The Sound of Music" is about to become again the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers," sung not in the confines of a church, but openly in community meetings and in public places, replacing the hippie music of "We Shall Overcome Christ" and the sickness of "Where Have All the Flowers Gone."

The Khazars have known all along that unless the songs of Christians could be stifled, they could never crush our Christ. They have tried for fifty years to subvert the command to "make a joyful noise unto the Lord" and saturate America with sick music, while at the same time suppressing the great patriotic songs about God by pressure both within and without the school system.

They have produced a situation where the whole generation is going off the track, and where Christian parents seriously wonder whether they should send their sons and daughters to college at all. Here and there in America today the reaction against the philosophy of animalism is making its appearance.

The new song of the militant Christian is bursting forth. The new America will be an America that sings out its faith . . . and its faith will be vigorously and unashamedly Christian. The Khazars have had their day, and they will have to give way. No longer will Christians permit a handful of anti-Christ Khazars to silence thousands of Christians.

An "Onward Christian Soldiers" juggernaut is in the making.

This resurgence of faith in America swings back fifty years and more for its solid foundation. It has the melody and the harmony, the rhythm and the burning conviction of "The Old Time Religion." It has the simple overwhelming power of "I Love to Tell the Story of Jesus and His Love."

It will brook no evil, it will not temporize with coarseness, crudity or Khazar degeneracy.

It is reacting . . . and it will react more and more openly and more violently . . . against every hint of an attack upon the sacredness of home and family life. It will cleanse out the lewd publications and the sex-saturated pandering that has been misleading our young people. It will hold up the banner of Christ's standards and it will brook no half-way compromise.

That is because it is reacting violently against the Khazar misleadership of this country which has come to a climax in this generation and brought the nation to its knees in a flood of crime, lust, drugs, and violence such as America has never known before, because America has never before been so saturated with the evil influence of Khazar-controlled TV, radio, and the other mass media.

This resurgence of Christian faith and belief in the good life is not coming from the larger branches of the Christian Church. The Catholic Church, for example, has been so strangled by Khazar influence that even the instructions, "At the Name of Jesus every knee shall bow," have less meaning. The big branches of the Protestant Church are by and large ice cold in today's critical situation.

It is among the fringe Christians . . . some of the Baptists, some of the Pentacostals, to be specific . . . that this blazing fervor for the good life as Christ outlines it, is bursting into a forest fire again. The armor of this army that will save America from collapse before paganism is song.

All the fervor of the rough-hewn wooden tabernacles of the "old time religion" are coming back again, and essentially this phenomenon is not one that will come to fruition within the church walls, but outside in community gatherings, in the band shells and open air parks of America. Then these forces will gradually capture, first the radio, then the TV, and put an end to the nausea of anti-Christ sickness which has been fed to America for a generation.

This resurging Christian influence will insist upon public officials who represent them. They will throw out of power the forces that drove the Name of God out of the public schools. The Name of God will come back into the schools of the nation, and those who do not like it will have to shut up and slink away. They have had their era. They have failed miserably. This is the era of fervent Christians who will once more seize control of America.

Public banquets will begin . . . always . . . with a blessing. There will be no compromise because a handful of Christ-haters live in the community. Ours will be a Christian civilization once more. No longer will Christian Americans permit their children to be debauched and misled by those who hate Christ and who prove it by the immoral culture which they sought to fasten upon us.

Do you hear America singing as this new age approaches us? It will be an age of "Glory, Glory Hallelujah." It will be an age of "Our Father's God, to Thee" and "Beautiful Saviour! Lord of the Nations." It will be an age of "America the Beautiful — God Shed His Grace on Thee." It will be an age of that old favorite, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Sunshine in My Soul." The challenge of "Who Is on the Lord's Side"? will be openly put forth. It will be an age when "The Fight is On."

Can you imagine how the drone of the hippie music will fade away when groups of Christian Americans dare to stand on the street corners in time of crisis, singing "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus."

The secret of the new America is bound up in the Psalms which command us to sing out to the Lord. Christian song has been deliberately suppressed for fifty years. This suppression has been intensified by the Khazar control of radio and TV. These bonds are being broken. Here and there, throughout the nation, this symbol of fearless Christianity and Christian ideals has come forth.

A nation that demands that Christ's way be followed . . . to be clean of heart, to be merciful, to follow the ways of justice, and to bring a true worldwide peace . . . is on the march to victory.

This is because the power of Christ is greater than any other power. It is the One Power that paganism cannot match!

WHICH WILL IT BE?

1968 — END OF THE ROAD FOR U.S.? or 1968 — BEGINNING OF A NEW CHRISTIAN ERA FOR U.S.?

IT'S UP TO YOU—AND YOU—AND YOU!

Reverse the trend—Be proud to be a Christian—Stand up and fight for Jesus.

The target is Christianity and your country. The survival of both depends upon YOUR actions.

CRISIS IN OPEN HOUSING

On March 8, 1968, Americans the country over were shocked into the full realization of the domestic peril that faces this country. On that day the United States Senate approved the House-passed Civil Rights Bill. The shocker was the "Open Housing" section it contained, the first such law in American history, thanks to the arm-twisting of certain so-called Republicans. The minority leader of the Senate, Everett Dirksen, who once stated that an open housing bill was "unconstitutional and un-American," became a turncoat and voted in favor of the bill. He was working closely with other Senators, including Zionist Jake Javits, and under direct pressure from Richard Nixon. A Benedict Arnold could have done no worse.

The representatives of our alleged government have the gall to propose this "open housing" bill as an antidote to last year's unprovoked riots, which were nothing more than wanton destruction of property and outright murder of both black and white.

The "open housing" law stands as Political Zionism's greatest triumph. Political Zionism has decreed that all whites are second class citizens, and has forced its Senate puppets to deliver this vicious law which will erase the last vestige of liberty left to whites in the United States.

What would this "open housing" clause actually do? It would . . .

1. Prohibit discrimination in the sale and rental of housing, covering eventually 70% of the nation's housing units.
2. Require by law that you must rent to Negroes if you own a rental housing or apartment, unless you personally live on the premises.
3. Open all new housing immediately to Negroes.
4. Open all real estate housing to Negroes.

Failure to comply with the above could result in a $1,000 fine and a prison term that could be indefinite!

Someone recently remarked that if lunatics were running our government they would make a mistake once in a while in our favor. Our problem is not one of mere insanity. That at least could be cured. We are at the mercy of cold, cruel, fiendish satanists whose sole allegiance is to the Political Zionist Invisible Government, and who will do anything the latter commands if only they can continue to feed at the public trough.

It has been the considered opinion of respected leaders of both races for centuries that apartheid (separation of the races) alone will maintain amity between black and white and assure that each race maintains its racial integrity (impossible under integration, which means mongrelization) and that both attain their rightful destiny among nations and races.

At this late hour the white American is truly defending his last barrier against total slavery. This "open housing" legislation must be fought to the last man, even if it takes another "1776" to do it. Fortunately, there is still time. The amended Senate bill now goes to the House for their consideration and approval. Since it is not likely the House will accept the Senate changes, a bi-partisan committee will be appointed to work out a compromise.

Write, wire, call, or visit your Congressman personally, in groups, where possible. In the name of patriotism and America, demand a "NO" vote on this "open housing" legislation.
